CURRENCY OPERATIONS CLASSIFICATION TABLE

1. Introduction

Considering that under Law 24/21 of 18 October, the National Bank of Angola (BNA) Law, BNA is responsible for guaranteeing and ensuring an information system, compilation and processing of monetary, financial and foreign exchange statistics, as well as the preparation of the country's balance of external payments;

Also considering the need to improve the quality of the information provided within the scope of the statistics on foreign exchange operations produced in the country, as a basic tool in the decision-making process, the National Bank of Angola has drawn up the Foreign Exchange Operations Classification Table, which is intended to support users of the same, especially the Banking Financial Institutions authorised to operate on the foreign exchange market, their customers and the general public, with a view to correctly classifying the foreign exchange operations they carry out, making it an obligatory instrument for consultation, for the framing and recording of the said foreign exchange operations.

The aim of this document is also to standardise the classification of transactions for the purposes of recording foreign exchange operations and to assist in the compilation of Balance of Payments statistics.

The document comprises the Classification Table, the Description of the Classification Categories and the Glossary. The Classification Table lists the seven major categories of foreign exchange transactions, namely Goods, Services, Primary Income, Secondary Income (Current Transfers), Capital and Financial Account and Complementary Operations, as well as the list of accounts that compose each category.

The Description of the Classification Categories contains the definitions of the classification categories and their respective accounts.

Finally, we present a Glossary, containing an alphabetical list of terms related to this domain, as well as their respective definitions.

The difference between the sale and repurchase prices is the interest paid by the debtor.

Assets - are asset values, representing credits, rights or goods held by an economic agent.

However, forward contracts may be subject to physical settlement (where the seller delivers the sold commodity) or financial settlement (where there is no physical delivery of the commodity, but only a settlement of accounts in accordance with the market price of the asset on the settlement date).
